CLEARING OUT GRAFTERS

Bristow's Report Leads to Discharge of Additional Quartet of Postoffice Employees—Payne Explains His Action.

A Washington special says: Postmaster General Payne Wednesday removed from office Michael W. Louis, superintendent of the supplies of the postoffice department; Louis Kempner, chief of the registry division of the third assistant postmaster general's office, and C. B. Terry, a $900 clerk in the postoffice department, and directed the postmaster at New York to remove Otto Wels, a clerk.

These removals are the first result of Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Bristow's report on the irregularities in the postoffice department.

Information of the contemplated discharges did not leak out at the department until after 4 o'clock, and at 4:30 the postmaster general made an official announcement of his action, as follows:

"Michael W. Louis has been removed from the office of superintendent of the division of supplies because the recent investigation shows that he influenced the awarding of contracts for supplies to favored bidders; that he has been extravagant and wasteful in the administration of his office, and that he has paid excessive prices for supplies to favored contractors.

"Louis Kempner, superintendent of the registry system, has been removed for incompetent and negligent administration, for wasteful and reckless extravagance in sending expensive manifold registration books to a large number of fourth-class postoffices and for violating the revenue laws by a system of petty smuggling.

"C. B. Terry, a clerk in the division of supplies, has been removed for making false affidavits; attempted to obtain money from clerks under the guise that he could influence their promotion, and general inefficiency.

The postmaster general also stated that the postmaster at New York had been directed to remove Otto Wels, a clerk in the New York postoffice, for collecting money from clerks to influence legislation and to procure promotions.

DUE TO BRISTOW REPORT.

In reply to questions Mr. Payne said the discharges were the result of disclosures made by the Bristow report. "I have read the report," he said, "and am free to say that my action today was the result of its perusal." He declined to say whether there would be other removals as a result of the report.

Terry is from Indiana. He was a temporary clerk in the postoffice department and was afterwards removed. He made charges that he had been discharged from his position by John M. Masten, then chief clerk of the first assistant postmaster general, but now assistant superintendent of the railway mail service, because he had refused to give money to Masten for his retention, and the president directed his reinstatement. It is understood that the investigation failed to substantiate Terry's charges and his permanent removal is the result of that failure.

Both Louis and Kempner have been in the postal service for some years.

At Thursday's session of the Pan-American conference of bishops at Washington, Rt. Rev. Frank Gallor, the bishop of Tennessee, advocated the development of the Episcopal church in the United States along national lines with a view to the creation of a distinctively American church. He was opposed to the Episcopal church being called a branch of the church of England, and also to the introduction of English forms and customs into the American church.

APPEAL TO THE SWORD

Seems Only Alternative in Disagreement Between Russia and Japan.
War Clouds Again Lower.

A special from Yokohama, Japan, says: It is currently reported that the check in the negotiations is due to the Japanese demand for equal railway rights in Manchuria, but it is believed that a more serious difficulty exists.

The feeling of popular unrest is growing. The aha! of Tokio announced Thursday that a preliminary mobilization order had been issued to the thirteenth army division. Though this was officially denied, the report coincides with much open preparations against contingencies.

Thirteen vessels of the Japanese squadron are engaged in gun practice off Saeko, 25 miles from Nagasaki. A dispatch from Reuters Telegraph Company, from Tokio, received in London Thursday, says:

"It is said that another conference of the elder statesmen will be convened tomorrow when decisions having important bearings on the future course of events are expected, although there is no fear of an immediate rupture. In the meanwhile precautionary preparations are progressing.

"It is reported from Peking that M. Lessar, the Russian minister, has addressed a long note to Prince Chin, head of the Chinese foreign office, saying that Japan's interference in the Manchurian question will compel Russia to adopt final measures and threatening China with severe punishment if she sides with Japan. This action, while the negotiations are pending, has caused deep umbrage."

A request of the Associated Press at St. Petersburg for a statement from the foreign office indicating Russia's position in connection with the Far Eastern question elicited only the significant reading of a less reassuring dispatch from Tokio. The St. Petersburg newspapers say the Russian squadron consists of fifty-four warships, including six battle ships, eight first-class and five second-class cruisers, seven seagoing gunboats, two torpedo cruisers, two torpedo transports and twenty-four torpedo boat destroyers, having an aggregate of 750 officers and 13,200 men. There are now on the way to the Far East two battle ships, three first-class cruisers and eleven torpedo boats of various classes with 164 officers and 3,254 men.

A dispatch from Berlin says: It has been announced that the Russian viceroy of the Far East, Admiral Alexieff, is opposed to the opening of the Manchurian towns to foreign trade. This has excited no surprise in Germany. The treaty of commerce between the United States and China recently signed at Shanghai provides that suitable concession be given at Moukden and An-Tung for the residence of foreigners and for their commerce. Russia's latest proposals to China, which embody Viceroy Alexieff's policy, stipulate that such concessions be given only to Russians.

DOWIEITES TIRE OF GOTHAM.

"Elijah" Warns Against Kissing—Many Bogus Checks Received.

Two hundred of the followers of John Alexander Dowie indicated that they were tired of the work of reforming New York city and wanted to return to Zion City when the "general overseer" invited all who wanted to give up the work and give others a chance to take it up to step forward at the early meeting in Madison square garden Thursday morning.

Dowie at that meeting said he should endeavor to convert the pope. He added that he had received many bogus checks since coming to New York, but that others had been good. "There is no need for followers to rush back to Zion," said he, "because of those suits by merchants of Chicago. They are against me personally and not against Zion."

Turning his attention to kissing, Dowie said people should be careful of their kisses and use them carefully in the family.

"Why, my son Gladstone never kissed a woman outside the family," he said.

PARKHURST BIFFS DOWIE.

Alleged Prophet Elijah Gets Deeper Into Hot Water in New York.
Great Disorder at Meetings.

A New York dispatch says: Dr. Dowie talked for two hours Tuesday night before a great throng in Madison Square Garden, the burden of his talk being denunciation of the clergy and the press.

When he began the garden was crowded, and the police say six thousand people who could not gain entrance were turned away. In half an hour, however, the crowd began to surge out, and then the police refused to admit any late comers, saying they feared a riot.

It was with some difficulty that any semblance of order was kept. The speaker was repeatedly interrupted with hisses and shouts of disapproval. Carrie Nation, who occupied a seat near the front, asked "Elijah" to answer some questions. He refused and ordered her to sit down. She persisted and the police were called upon to put her out.

Dowie attacked the Rev. Dr. P. S. Henson, the Rev. Dr. Parkhurst, J. P. Morgan and others, and announced that hereafter he proposed to keep the newspaper reporters out of his meetings.

The Rev. Dr. Charles H. Parkhurst earlier in the day sent the following open letter to Mr. Dowie:

"I do not want to be presuming, but doubt if it is any more presumptuous in me to come and try to clarify New York; and I don't know which of us has taken the heavier contract. I attended your service at Madison Square Garden last evening, and I went determined to enjoy it if I could and to be benefited by it and to go away and refute some of the charges that I had heard alleged against you. But it was of no use; your behavior on the platform crushed every throb of sympathy I had with you. I never heard from a public speaker such a discharge of effervescence and coarse invective. I went to hear you preach the gospel and you preached Dowie, Zion City, 'stinkpot'."

"I was ashamed of you and almost ashamed to be in your audience. It was a long way below the standard even of the circus that I have attended in the same garden. The only consolation I could derive was that it was so abominable and so far beyond the bounds of the respectable that even those in your congregation who did not know what Christianity is would have no idea that it had anything to do with what you were saying. Of course, the ridiculousness of the performance was your pretensions. If you claimed to be only an ordinary man there might be some hope for you, even with what you call the 'rabble,' but the 'rabble' is discriminating and can discriminate as keenly as the keenest between a prophet and a juggler and a mountebank."

"I say this in no spirit of anger, but either your head is twisted or your heart is infected, or you have blundered badly in your methods. You cannot bully people into Zionism, nor blackguard them into the kingdom of heaven. I hope you will take this in the kindly spirit in which it is offered."

WOMAN TO PRISON FARM.

Mrs. Wood, Who Shot Husband, Is Given a Two-Year Sentence.

Ignoring the recommendation of the jury, Judge Roan, in the criminal division of the superior court, at Atlanta, Ga., Tuesday morning, sentenced Mrs. W. J. Wood, who was last week convicted of assault with intent to murder upon her husband, to two years on the prison farm, at Milledgeville. The jury recommended that the woman be punished as for a misdemeanor, but the two-year sentence makes the punishment as that of a felony. In passing sentence, the judge said that Mrs. Wood would be infinitely better off with a two-year sentence at the prison farm than she would be with a misdemeanor or sentence to one of the misdemeanor convict camps of the state, where no provision is made for the care of women.

His wages generally were $12 a month and board. In the 32 years he had but three employers and took only six days off. His expenditures amounted to $4.90 an average of less than 12 cents a month. Mahaney said he had enough to live on comfortably and would never work again.

NINE KILLED BY DERRICK.

Immense Traveling Crane Collapsed Upon Bridge Workers at Pittsburgh, Causing Deadly Horror.

By the breaking of the ropes carrying five beams to their position, letting the tons of iron fall upon the movable crane at the Pittsburgh end of the new Washab bridge being built by the American Bridge Company over the Monongahela river, almost a dozen workmen were hurled to death by a fall of more than 100 feet, striking the water and two barges beneath. Ten of the dead have been recovered. Five are seriously injured. Several bodies are yet pinned under the wrecked barge. The part of the bridge extending out over the river from the Water street side is a total wreck.

The dead are: W. J. McCloud, Geo. Wells, G. W. Kettling, William Kempton, C. L. Fleming, Fred Sallinger, Frank Dalby, J. Campbell, Edward Morris, James Simmons.

The accident was caused by the giving away of a 2-inch steel cable, which was used as one of the guys to support the big crane. This cable was tested to bear a strain of 100 tons, and it is said that it did not break, but pulled loose from its fastenings.

There were thirty-four men at work on the superstructure of the bridge and in the barge below, from which the beams were being hoisted by the crane, 175 feet above the river level, when the beams collapsed. Of the men who were in the barge some escaped with their lives by jumping into the river the moment they heard the crash above. Some of the men on the superstructure who were engaged in riveting and handling the bars that were lifted from the barge also got off unharmed.

Thousands visited the scene of the disaster during the morning, and at lunch time the wharf was crowded with men, women and children. They watched the workmen on the sunken barges with intense interest and sought every point of vantage from which they could get a view. It will take some time to clear away the wreckage and recover the missing bodies.

DOWIE'S TROUBLES BEGUN.

Strenuous New Yorkers Too Much for Alleged "Elijah the Second."

When John A. Dowie opened his second night's meeting in Madison Square Garden, New York, he faced an immense throng; when he closed it his audience had dwindled to only a few hundred persons besides his own "boast" he brought with him from the west. He fretted, fumed, threatened, cajoled and finally resorted to the use of epithets, his hearers meanwhile leaving the meeting, several hundred together, drowning the sound of his voice.

He had announced that at Monday night's meeting he would tell how it was revealed to him that he was "Elijah," and also that he would have something to say to the newspapers and their reporters. His talk, which was interspersed with several hymns, at times when the tramp of those leaving the hall was more than his voice could overcome, was devoted chiefly to denunciation of tobacco smokers, liquor drinkers and newspaper men, all of whom he classed as "dirty dogs" and "dirty birds."

Whereas, by the resolution of the senate of March 19, 1903, the approval of congress of the reciprocal commercial convention between the United States and the republic of Cuba, signed at Havana on December 11, 1902, is necessary before the said convention shall take effect;

WHAT UNCLE SAM GETS

Through Verdict of the Alaskan Boundary Commission.

The award of the Alaskan commission carries the following decisions: The mountain line adopted as the boundary between the United States and Canada gives the United States substantially all territory in dispute. The line completely clears all bays and the means of access to the sea. The United States gains a land barrier between Canada and the sea from Portland canal to Mount St. Elias, Alaska.

The United States is given islands of Kananagun and Sitkan, which commands entrance to Portland channel, and the ocean passage to Port Simpson.

The Portland canal is given unconditionally to Canada. Pease and Albert islands are allotted to the Dominion.

Messrs. Jett and Aylesworth, the Canadian commissioners, in a statement of their reasons for refusing to sign the record say they consider the finding of the tribunal regarding the islands of entrance of Portland channel and the mountain line is not a judicial one. They add:

"We urged our views as strongly as we were able, but we have been compelled to witness the sacrifice of the interests of Canada. We were powerless to prevent though satisfied that the course which the majority was determined to pursue in respect to the matters above specially referred to ignored the rights of Canada."

According to a London special, in consequence of the attitude maintained by the Canadian commissioners, Lord Chief Alverstone decided Tuesday morning not to hold the proposed public meeting of the Alaskan boundary commission, but to hand its decision to Messrs. Foster and Sifton, respective agents of the American and Canadian governments.

The Canadian commissioners not only declined to sign the award, but said they would publicly withdraw from the commission. They, as well as the Canadians connected with the case, are very bitter. Telegrams from Premier Laurier and other prominent persons in Canada show that this sentiment is shared generally throughout the dominion.
